THE BANKBUPT LAW .- A correspondent ("F. A.") writes us at some length controverting an article in the last 'Star,' which argues that if a Bankrupt Law is defeated in this Comgress, it will be by Loce-Foco votes. We do not publish this article, mainly because we think the Star right and our correspondent wrong. We do not expect-we never have expected—dat every Whig in Congress will vote for any par- perity of the e-unity; whilst a considerable portion of the ticular Bankrupt bill which may be framed. The serious Whig party with a large body of the original supporters of question respecting the subjection of Corporations to its provisions will probably, is one way or another, alienate some who are favorable to the principle. The others are exposed to the inexpediency of the measures as suberdinate or eccondary the project generally. For instance, Mr. Spring of Ken- in importance. The first class, who always have and still tucky was elected (by the aid of the Loco-Foco votes,) over assume to represent the commercial interests of the country. Mr. Field, the regular Whig candidate, on the express ground want merely a Bank with a large capital—the larger the betof hostility to any Bankrupt Law. What sort of support can ter-with the privilege of dealing in every thing, and, among be expected from him !

This great question, from its very nature, caused and should not be made a party one. Yet we have every confidence that from high considerations of Philantherpy and Public Good, at least three-fourths of the Whig Members will favor a Backrupt Law. If, then, the Loco-Fecos choose to go against it nearly en masse, they can and will defeat it, they mean to free it from the objections that were arged and the responsibility will clearly rest on them. Let them

ASTOUNDING DISCLOSURE !- The Commercial of last ev. ning states that the Editor has ascertained by inspiry at the General Post Office that the following statement is true to the letter. But for this assurance we should esteem it incredible, even in view of the notorious iniquities and corruptions of those whem the People have so righteensly expelled from power. The statement originally appeared in the Louisville Journal, and is as follows:

When Mr. Barry was Postmaster General, a Committee was appointed by the United States Senate to investigate the affairs of the Post Office Department. The investigation resulted in the very able report made by Mr. Ewing, in which nd other corruption were duly made divers extra allowances a known to the people of the country.

To parry the effects of that startling report, Mr. Barry, it remembered, published a pamphlet, a vindication, so called, of his conduct. This pamphler was, of course, an individual and not an official document. Nevertheless, he agreed to pay to the Editors of the Globe, Messrs. Blair & Rives, $1,500 for printing it, and charged the amount the Government When Amos Kendall succeeded Mr. Barry as Postmaste General, he gianced over the books of the Department and saw this item of $1,500. Afraid that another investigation would soon take place, and that this extraordinary item would thus be brought to light, he made Blair & Rives refund the money; at least he entered it as refunded on the books. Thus the matter remained till the 3d of March, 1841, the very last day of Mr. Van Buren's Administration, when Mr. Niles, the successor of Kendail as Postmaster General, paid back the $1,500 to Blair & Rivers, and an entry was actually made in the books to that effect!

The Commercial further states that, being out of funds at the time, Mr. P. M. G. Niles drew on a Pennsylvania Postmaster in favor of Blair for this amount; and Blair was so fearful that Mr.: Granger would discover the fraud and arrest it that he proposed sending an express to the Postmaster for the cash! Let these facts be officially verified.

MEMORY OF GENERAL HARRISON.-On Saturday last number of the citizens of Pennsylvania, who were at that time in Washington, held a meeting to adopt measures where by the People of the Keystone Statesnight signalize their regard for the services and respect for the memory of our late Chief Magistrate. Judge Monnison of Bedford was called to the Chair, and Hen. Thaddeus Stevens, after an eloquent and most appropriate address, introduced a series of resolutions recommending to the citizens of Pennsylvania to raise, by voluntary contributions, such a sum as may do honor to their own hearts and forever vindicate the memory of HAR-Risos from that malignity which has not been able to stop its hot pursuit even at the portals of his grave. The whole subject is to be put under the control of the Democratic State Committee, no isdividual is to subscribe more than five dollars, and the sum thus raised is to be appropriated to the erection of a menument to the memory of Harrison at North Bend, or to the use of his family, as a State Conven-

STEAMBOAT COLLISION.-The steamboat Export, on her way down to Louisville, from Cincinnati, came in collision with the steamer Josiah Nicols, about four miles above Rising Sun, by which the former was such to ner be er deck, the water coming nearly to the too of the wheel-house. The Export was freighted with dry goods and other wares for Louisville.

We think the proceeds of as also the Sub-Treasury of Mr. Van Buren, which is little worth, and that their increase should not be encouraged. neither more nor less than the mere embediment of the As a specimen of their character, however, and to satisfy same prisciple -constituted, beyond all question, the principle the curiosity of the secluded reader, we give the following pal ground of opposition to the late Administration. But extract from the House report of the grave and dignified those who opposed these measures, and finally succeeded in National Intelligencer; defeating them and prostrating their authors, were influenced to a considerable degree by different reasons. A majority, Rules, &c. for the Government of the House. Mr. Rayner perhaps of the original opponents of Gen. Jackson's Admin- made a long Southern, anti-Abolitien speech. Then same a istration objected to those measures, alleging that they were chass of an hour or so, the Speaker entreating, explaining, extyransical and illegal; but at the same time they laid the horting, half a dozen Members on the floor at once, and othprincipal stress upon the objection that they were injurious ers talking in their seats—every one crying 'order,' and neof the purse and the sword—the strong point, and considered other things, foreign exchanges in every part of the world. The other class of Whits includes the President and a majointy of his Cabinet, and as we firmly believe, a great majurity of the Whig party throughout the Union. They mean o steer clear of the present Constitutional objections, and n organing a fiscal agent as a substitute let the sub-treasury. against that measure. They mean to separate the purse from the sword, and keep it separate; and restore to the immediate representatives of this people their Constitutional right of controlling the finances of the government; which was first wresped from them by an act of Executive usurpation, and that act was subsequently centrated by the passage.

There are therefore, no discrepart opinions amongst the Whigs, as to the principles upon which the foture measures of the Administration are to be founded. All agree that the distreasory ought to be repealed, and that an entire specie corrency, the natural consequence of carrying out that system, cannot be telerated in this country. All agree that a fiscal agent in lieu of the sub-treasury ought to be created ombine banking powers to a greater or less extent, with a view of regulating the paper currency of the country, and for the accommodation of the public, as far as can be done with safety and prudence. But on the question how far this measure of relief can be prudentially carried, there is undoubtedly some diversity of opinion among certain portions of the Whig party. It is perhaps as well that it is so, for it is dways necessary to be extremely carcious to experimental egislation; and it is better to have none than to have it had We confess, however, that we can perceive no very strong assections to the plan proposed by the Secretary of the Trea-We feel quite confident that if it is now carried into effect, it will produse great good to the country immediately: and as it is believed to be a Cabinet measure, and withal a safe and judicious one, we cannot doubt that the very able and experienced Whigs, who now have a majority in both houses of Congress, will unite in carrying it through, with probably some salutary amendment.

THE BALIZE PIRACY .- The brig American, Capt. Hubbard, from Chagres, brings some information relative to the ship Charles, which rather increases than clears up the mystery attending her fate. When in lat 26° 41° N. Ion. 79° 20' W., Capt. Hubbard spoke the schooner Ann, from New-Orleans, for Portsmouth. He was hailed by a men who said he was Capt. Gorham, of the Charles; that when about 60 miles from the Balize his wessel sprung a-leak, and that he had flung overboard about 400 bales of cotten to lighten her, but that the water in her hold stood five feet deep when they were taken off by a French vessel, and that part of his erew were with him on board the Ann. He said, too that they were out of water and wished a supply from Capt. Hulsbard, which he was unable to grant strangely, and they soon parted.

The New-Orleans papers say that the cargo of the Charles was wholly composed of staves and lumber : how, then, could 400 bales of catton have been thrown overboard? If the Ann should arrive at Portsmouth, which from the direumstances may well be doubted, we shall probably have some explanation of this most singular affair. As it stands, either the individual who builed the American was not Capt. Gor-By Mr. CLAY's plan of a National Bank, or suggestions ham, or the crew of the Charles were the real pirates.

> UNION BANK OF MONTREAL.-The and Sun-consistent opponents of Bank Charters and all monopolies'-recently warned the public against taking the notes of the Bank above samed, which we understand is a free one. If they have any reason to distrust the solvency of this Bank, they ought to state it; in the absence of such, their attack, whether instigated by their own ' private griefs ir shace of others, strikes us as exceptionable. The Union Bank has now been in operation several years, and has never at any time refused to redeem its notes in Specie, even when of its opponents appears to be that of stendily redeeming its eviden intes in this city at 12 per cent. discount, while those of all other Canada Banks are sold at 2 to 2 per cent. Its agent has also, we believe, put down the rate of discount in our city on all Canada money. This, we know, is a very naughty trick in the eyes of Wall-street, but should it prejudice the Bank in the opinion of the public !
